

Tarot Card		Queen of Blades
Alleyman’s Tarot Card:		The Six of Swords (Page No. 70)
No. & Name of Faction		72. Sandwalkers
Expansion		Sacred Circles
Timeframe
Alignment		any
Politics	Aggressive	Category	Tribes
Enemies	none
Seats (n) = Influence	0 on Council	0 in Secret Conclave
	0 at Grasslander Gathering	1 in Congress of Dreams
Characters	The Senior Shaman of the Singing Sands, the Secret Singer of the Sands
Location A	none	Area A	none
Location B		Area B
Resources	Sandwalkers, Black Sandwalkers, Sandworms
Circle	The Oasis of Broom and Tamarisk	Forest	The Great Desert
Otherworld		Domain
Random Event	The Secret Singer has foreseen a great Sandstorm which will soon hit Tehmor / a specified location.
Background	The Sandwalkers of the Deep Desert are a mystical Druidic Cult of the Deep Desert who gain Instress from the shapes and sculptures of the sand and are able to venture into the mirages of Desert Madness and return, sometimes rescuing the Lost. They are Adepts at wandering the Realms of Madness, either on foot or riding the giant Sandworms of the Deep Desert. Their Kasbah is at the Oasis of Broom and Tamarisk, at a secret location in the Deep Desert which discourages visitors. They also have a Dark Sect known as the Black Sandwalkers, whose Kasbah is at the Oasis of Dreaming Cacti in the Underworld / Oasis of Despairing Cacti in the Domain of Despair (the distinction and boundaries between the two being thin). A number of lesser Druidic Beastmaster Sects of the Southern Desert are also commonly known as "Sandwalkers" as they share the ability to Instress from the sands. The true Sandwalkers seldom venture outside the Deep Desert, except on Quests into the Lost and Lonely Sands of Madness, but are much respected and feared across the whole of the Southern Deserts.

Notes	DD: Embrace Madness: may move freely through Areas of Madness (they still become Mad, but are able to control it and adjust to the lower Level of Madness on leaving it).